The iTrac® Spine Remodeling System is a modern and effective tool for restoring cervical curve and reducing forward head posture. The iTrac®'s patented high-tech design features computer-controlled pneumatic application of traction, resulting in patient-pleasing comfort and maximal therapeutic benefit. Combined, this system works to enhance the modern physical medicine clinic.

More than ten years of research and development by industry expert Dr. Jarrod Nichols went into the system software and hardware design, with a focus on advanced technology and effective, measurable and consistent structural spinal correction, increasing the standards for posture correction.
